NUMB. 1 - 6

MONDAY, JUNE 29. 1741.

To the Printer of the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

Edinburgh, June 13, 1741.

I SEE a Paragraph inserted in the Edinburgh Courant about the Election at Dunbar. Never was ſo much Falſhood, and with ſo bad a Deſign, thrown into ſo little Room. As I was an Eye witneſs to moſt Part of the Tranſactions, and had a diſtinct Information of the reſt from the Perſons who preſent, I ſhall tell you the naked Truth of all that paſſed. I need not take notice of the Clerk's being tipſy with Capt. Fall before the Election, and a Guard being planted on his Houſe the Night preceding that; thoſe are only Cavils brought in to augment the Number, and the latter is altogether falſe: The Clerk's Reſidence that Night in Capt. Fall's Houſe, was his own Choice; but his Wife, who you will find by the Sequel had a Part to act in this Affair, ſhewing an Unea-ſineſs at it, he went and lodged at home. To the Place of Election he went in along with the Preſes, whom he did not cloſe behind, and was followed by the reſt of the Delegates, which the ingenious Author of the Paper is Conducting. They paſſed thro' a Lane of Soldiers, and others appointed by the Magiſtrates to keep Order, and to keep off the Mob from diſturbing the Court; to which Purpoſe likewiſe an Officer was placed at the Door of the Court-Room, and Two Officers in the Stair-Caſe to carry Meſſages to and from the Court: Such was the Diſpoſition; and it appears there was Occaſion for it; for Attempts were made more than once by Sir Hugh Dalrymple's People to break in by force, and to introduce a Mob to fill the Room: No Partiality was ſhewn in admitting Perſons on the one Side, and denying the other; nor did the Officers refuſe to carry Meſſages, when they were aſk'd. Mr. Alſton, Writer in Edinburgh, was in a Room below the moſt Part of the Time of the Election; and when Mr. Lockhart and Mr. Chalmers, who were with him, withdrew, they ſent in two other Perſons in their room: Two Counſellors of Dunbar were likewiſe in the ſame Place, more for ſeeing Order keep'd than any other Deſign, and ſometimes there was a Noiſe among them. At Night, when the Danger of a Mob was over, and it was become chill upon the Street, the Company in the Room below was ſometimes encreaſed to nine or ten at moſt, altogether by Perſons who came to inform themſelves; but they converſed familiarly with them, and no Exception was taken at the Time. Sir Hugh's Delegates did not truſt the Officers with their Votes, but came down themſelves, and converſed with the ſaid Meſſieurs Lockhart, Chalmers, and Alſton; eſpecially the Delegate from North Berwick, about the Beginning of the Court, ten or twelve times, and the Delegate from Haddington five or ſix times: The other Delegates did ſeldom withdraw, and the Preſes being in a long Sederunt of about fourteen Hours time, broke twice into the Court-room where the Delegates were ſitting, abuſing the Officer who offer'd to keep him, and went in and out to converſe with his Friends in the Room below at his Pleaſure; the other Delegate never ſet his Foot in the Houſe. From this it is very evident on what Side the Partiality lay with reſpect to Admittance. And tho' a Notary and Witneſſes were admitted into the Room below, at the Deſire of Sir Hugh's People, it is plain they had ſome View in that Demand; which was probably to embarras the Court by the Admittance into it of Men of the Law, which was inſiſted on at firſt and refuſed, or at bringing in of them to have taken the Mob along with them, for from the Beginning of the Court to the End of it, as appears by the Record, they did not once make uſe of that Notary.

The Facts which are next laid in the Paper are as much Truth, where it is inſinuate that Threats were given the Guard, and that the Clerk was under undue Influence when ſhort while after the Court had deliver'd the Indenture to Capt. Fall. The Truth is, after declaring in Court the Majority in his Favours, he went with Accord to the Window of the Town-Houſe, and reading to an Officer, he proclaimed him duely and legally elected Member of Parliament for that Diſtrict. Then going down Stairs after the Delegates, and ſaluted the ſaid Perſon openly in the Street, and ſeemed Joy, went next to his Family and did the ſame. Then having gone in with the Company to take a Refreſhment, which the ingenious Author of the Paper again calls Conducting, he roſe before the Company after drinking two or three Glaſſes, ſaying that he behoved to go and do the reſt of his Buſineſs, which he accordingly did, by cauſing the Perſon who wrote the Indenture to fill up the neceſſary Blanks, particularly that of the Member, with the Name of James Fall, Eſq; Merchant in Dunbar, ſigning the ſame before three Witneſſes, and afterwards delivering it out of his own Hand to the ſaid Perſon, with another Compliment to him at the ſame time, and telling him, that after a little Sleep, he would go with him to the Bull, to wait on the Sheriff; and then ſtepping into a Company in the next Room, where the Council of Dunbar and other Burgeſſes were taking a Refreſhment, he called for a Glaſs of Wine, and drank a Health to Capt. Fall as their Member, and to all his faſt Friends, which he deſired the Company to pledge him in a Bumper.

All theſe Facts, which are notourly known, can be diſtinctly proved; and he himſelf did own before the Council of Dunbar on the thirtieth of May, as they do clearly evidence, that hitherto the Clerk was ſincere, and ſo far as a Man's Intentions can be inferr'd from his Actions, that the Delivery of ſaid Indenture was his own voluntary Act and Deed; ſo his making out a ſecond Indenture in favours of Sir Hugh Dalrymple four Hours afterwards, and delivering it to Mr. William Alſton for him, as he himſelf did acknowledge and ſign before the Council above-mentioned; which Indenture his Son David on his Examination before Baily Pollock, does declare and ſign to have been wrote by himſelf as dictated by the ſaid Mr. Alſton, without any Directions from his Father for ſo doing, or affixing the Town's Small Seal thereto, and without his Father's reading of it, or having it read to him, at leaſt ſo far as he could remember, and that at a Time when his Father was either in Liquor, or very ſleepy. It is pretty plain from theſe Facts and Circumſtances, that it was owing to the undue Influence of his Family, particularly of his Son David and his Wife, with the weighty Arguments uſed by the ſaid Mr. Alſton, whereby the poor Man was ſeduced to act this diſingenuous and inconſiſtent Part. It is true, that the firſt mentioned Indenture was wrote by another Hand on the Tueſday before the Election, but it was at the Deſire of the Clerk; and tho' he endeavour'd before the Council to lurch in that Perſon as the Affixer of the Seal likewiſe, it came out as a Fact, which he was obliged to own before them, that ſaid Perſon only aſſiſted him at his Deſire in pulling one Handle of the Preſs while he himſelf ſhov'd the other, and at the ſame time held the Parchment to the Seal, as alſo that at that Time only the Stile of the Indenture was wrote out, the Name of the Member, and other neceſſary Blanks, being left open.

I come now to the Calumny which is laid, after making out the ſecond Indenture, upon Notice whereof, it is no Wonder if the Delegates were very uneaſy about the Safety of their Minutes, and to have an Extract of them, as the Clerk could not be found nor ſpoke with, they applied for this Purpoſe to Baily Pollock, by Petition, which was ſigned by the Preſes, and had a Deliverance upon it, to bring the Clerk and his Son before him, the latter as being Amanuenſis both to the Minutes of Election, and to the ſecond Indenture, but the Clerk was denied to be in the Houſe, and could not be come at, till at laſt he was found in very odd Circumſtances concealed in a ſecret Hole above the Ceiling of his Room; he was not dragged to Priſon, nor impriſoned, but walked to the Counſel-houſe himſelf, the Officers behind him at ſome Diſtance, where he was not ſo much as queſtioned for what he had done, the Baily not having entered on his Examination, but only asked about the Minutes, and to make out an Extract of them for the Satisfaction of the Delegates, or at leaſt an Excerpt from the laſt Pages of them, which they inſiſted on; and he, after going with them to his own Houſe, and ſhewing them the Minutes before the Magiſtrate, promiſed to do that Evening, but did not till next Day after Ten o'Clock before Noon, and with this he was left in his own Houſe. As to David, he was indeed dragged to the Town-houſe, that is, he was conveyed by two Officers, becauſe he inſiſted on it himſelf, and would go no otherways, ſaying he would be exter'd, as he call'd it, by no leſs than two, and this after he had been guilty of the moſt flagrant Contempt of Authority, firſt by diſobeying the Officer upon a Citation, telling him, in plain Terms, he would not come before any Magiſtrate, nor was he obliged, repeating the ſame thing to the Magiſtrate, when out of Civility, and to avoid Extremes, he went to him himſelf; and then when the ſaid Magiſtrate out of further Civility, went down a ſecond Time, with the Delegates, to examine him in his own Room, telling him to his Face, that he would not anſwer him one Word, nor would he go the Town-houſe to be examined there, as he requir'd; and that as he was not a Burger nor Inhabitant, if he offer'd to carry him thither by his Officers, which the Baily on his repeated Obſtinacy threaten'd to do, he would give him a Door to break open, and inſolently bid him execute his Warrand. Theſe ſtrong Facts can be made appear by the Teſtimony of the Delegates from Haddington and Jedburgh, who were locked up with him in his Room, when the Door was broke open to bring him out: On this Contempt in the Council-houſe, after the making the Declaration as hinted above, the Baily delay'd the Conſideration till next Day; but as he inſiſted on a formal Liberation in Writing, on a Suppoſition of his being impriſon'd, which he was not, he was convey'd down Stairs to the Street door, ſupported in the ſame Way he came up, becauſe he would go in no other Way.

As to the Clerk's Wife, it would be found upon Enquiry, that the Abuſe was from her, by Tongue, Feet, and Hands, to ſundry who did not reſent it.

After this Detail of Facts, it will be needleſs either to take notice of the imperious Expreſſions in the Paper, which are only of a Piece with its obvious Deſign; or of the falſe Suggeſtion of David's Declaration being extorted from him, ſeeing it was wrote from his own Mouth, judicially ſign'd by himſelf, and counter-ſign'd by the Magiſtrate and two Witneſſes; or of what it mentioned as ſaid or done by the Clerk after he made the Fault, or declared by his Son, ſeeing after the Part both of them have acted, as we have ſeen, no Regard can be had to what comes either from the one or the other; or yet to look back and obſerve upon the many Calumnies couched in this Paper, ſeeing Truth in its naked Simplicity, ſet in Oppoſition to Falſehood, is the moſt effectual Confutation of it.

To the DAILY GAZETTEER.

SIR,

I Find the Publick well enough pleas'd with the Account you gave in your Paper of Wedneſday laſt of the French Admiral Pointy's Expedition to Carthagena; and cannot but think they will be farther entertain'd by the following Extract from p. 103. of the Relation that was publiſh'd of it by the Admiral himſelf, and which being in very few Hands, I thought a Tranſlation of it would be the more acceptable.

'There's a very unhealthy Seaſon which conſtantly 'happens upon this Coaſt once every Year, that is ge-'nerally preceded by Thunder and Rains, which ſeem'd 'now to have come ſomewhat later than uſual, to give 'us juſt Time for the Taking of Carthagena, for we 'were no ſooner Maſters of it but the Air was perfectly 'corrupted *, 800 Men were ſeiz'd with the contageous 'Diſtemper in leſs than ſix Days time, whereof the 'greateſt Part dy'd; and tho an Hoſpital was imme-'diately erected, it could ſcarce contain the Numbers 'that were brought in ſick from all Parts. We heard 'every day of ſome Inſtances of the Mortality. We were 'told at what Time and in what Number the Galleons 'loſt their Men, and that they were forc'd to abandon 'ſome Ship or other for Want of Hands to navigate 'them.

'All our Ideas of Triumph and Riches were defaced 'by thoſe of Sickneſs and Death. In ſhort, had the 'Contagion but continu'd with that Severity, I had no 'other Proſpect but of loſing not only the Fruits of all 'our Labours, but alſo the whole Squadron, of which 'I had the Charge, in the fineſt Harbour in the World, 'and that without an Enemy.

Sir John Norris writes from St. Helen's, that on the 23th in the Afternoon he ſailed with his Squadron from Spithead to that Place, and hoped to proceed to Sea the next Day

The King has been pleaſed to conſtitute and appoint Sir John Stanley, Sir John Evelyn, Barts. John Campbell, Bryan Fairfax, John Hill, Eſqrs. 'By the Turky Ships lately arriv'd, there's an Ac'count from Aleppo, that one Mr. Elliot, an Engliſh 'Gentleman, was arriv'd there from Eaſt India, who 'reports, that two Muſcovite Ships were arriv'd at Ja'pan from Geneſa in the Northeaſt Parts of Great Tar'tary. This Diſcovery was purpoſed to have been at'tempted by the late Czar Peter.

On Saturday laſt died at his Houſe in King-ſtreet, Weſtminſter, Mr. Dickens, a very noted and eminent Butcher.

To-morrow Six Months Pay will be iſſued at the Pay-office Whitehall to the Gariſons and Staff officers of Great Britain, Minorca, Gibraltar and the Plantations, from the 25th of June to the 24th of Decem. 1740.

On Saturday laſt ſeveral Waggon Loads of Tents, &c. were carried from hence to the intended Camp at Colcheſter.

On Saturday laſt Thomas Cuddy, Valentine Hope, Alexander Roach, John Morgan, and John Magrath, were brought to their Trial at the General Quarter-Seſſions held for the City and Liberty of Weſtminſter, at the Proſecution of Col. De Veil, for the great Riot and Attack made upon his Houſe in the Night of the 18th of May laſt, at which Time all the Windows in the Front of his Houſe were broke, Part of his Street-door, the Shutters, and other Damages done to him, beſides the great Terror and Confuſion the Family was put into.

Three poſitive Witneſſes prov'd that thoſe five Perſons were the moſt active in that Riot, and did great Part of the Damages with their own Hands; and one of the Witneſſes ſwore that he was knock'd down and very much wounded at the Place, by one of the Parties whom he well knew at that Time.

Four of them could give no Manner of Account of their Way of Living, nor three of them where they were that Night, and the other two that did, was by an Evidence a la Macray, pretending they were in another Place: And tho' one of them upon being taken, declared before the Juſtice that he was at Slow near Wind for that Night, yet upon his Trial he brought three or four Iriſh Evidences to ſwear that they lay in the ſame Room and Bed with him that Night in London. Two of them were prov'd to be in the Clare-market Riot, and one of them by many of his own Witneſſes prov'd to have ſtood in the Pillory in Ireland. Notwithſtanding all which, after a Trial of Nine Hours, when the Chairman ſumm'd it up abſolutely for the Crown, that they ought all to be found guilty, the Jury were pleaſed to acquit them. And one remarkable Inſtance happen'd, which was perhaps the firſt of the Kind, That one of the Jurymen (without acquainting the Court) went out, and was at home for about an Hour and half during the Time of Trial, and fifteen or ſixteen Witneſſes examin'd in his Abſence, after which he return'd and pleaded Sickneſs, but was fin'd by the Court twenty Pounds.

IN three Days Time demonſtrated to every one who takes it, that it is abſolutely infallible for the thorough Cure of thoſe perplexing Indiſpoſitions, even in the higheſt and moſt grievous Degree, where nothing but Reaſon reigns, where Reaſoning is uninterrupted or deprav'd, and the Mind is confuſed with terrible Perturbation, Anxiety, Deſpondency, even to Diſtraction, and the Body afflicted with almoſt innumerable Ailments.

Yeſterday arriv'd a Mail from Flanders.

Letters of the 13th inſtant, N. S. from Madrid ſay, the King of Spain takes the Jeſuits Bark every Morning.

The Ruſſian Court having receiv'd Advice from their Miniſter at Stockholm, that the Party which has the Aſcendant in the Dyet of Sweden, clamours again ſo ſtrenuouſly for declaring War with Ruſſia, that 'twas hardly to be doubted but the Swedes will ſhortly commence Hoſtilities by Sea and Land, it has occaſion'd ſuch an Alarm at the Court, that they have ſent Orders to 24 Batallions to advance with all Speed to Ingermania. M. de Landen, the Pruſſian Miniſter at Stockholm, is every Day almoſt with the Count de Gyllemberg, and the other Members of the Privy-Council, and his Negociation is thought to be far advanced.

All Hopes of an Accommodation of the Sileſian Affair ſeem to be baniſh'd by this Declaration, which was made by the Queen of Hungary to her Miniſters not many Days before ſhe ſet out for Presbourg; viz. 'That it was abſolutely impoſſible for her to conſent to 'give up the leaſt Part of Sileſia; that ſhe would defend 'that Province to the laſt Extremity; that if, after all, 'ſhe muſt loſe it, and can defend it no longer, ſhe 'had much rather it ſhould be taken from her by Force 'of Arms, than infringe the Pragmatic Sanction, and 'give Occaſion to other Pretenders to expect the ſame 'Complaiſance which ſhe ſhould ſhew to the King of 'Pruſſia.' The Elector of Bavaria has proteſted againſt her Majeſty's Coronation as Queen of Hungary.

Letters from Hamburgh ſay, they have Advice that the King of Sweden has created theſe two Gentlemen Senators; viz. the Count de Teſſin, and Count John de Gyllemburg, Son to the Preſident of the Chancery.

Letters of the 20th of June from Berlin ſay, that there's a Sickneſs in the Pruſſian Army of Obſervation, which carries off a good Number of the Soldiers, ſo that above 150 in a Day are ſent to the Hoſpital of Brandenbourg. The Count de Schwerin is ſaid to be ſo ill, that 'tis a Doubt whether he will recover. The King of Pruſſia is very uneaſy at the continual Deſertion of his Troops, which is ſaid to be ſo great, that Parties which are ſent out to bring in Deſerters never return.

'Tis ſaid that four of the principal Houſes in Genoa have join'd to lend the Great Duke of Tuſcany 100000 Ducats, but that the Loan ſollicited by the Elector of Bavaria does not ſeem to advance much.

There's Advice from Conſtantinople by Way of Vienna, that Kouli Kan has ſent 200000 Men towards Baſſora, and that another Army was on the March towards Mecca, to take Vengeance for the Murder of 400 Perſian Pilgrims, who went to viſit Mahomet's Tomb; which is News that very much confounds the Divan.

They write from Hambourg, that the King of Pruſſia is very much indiſpos'd in Sileſia.

From Petersbourg, that the whole Swediſh Fleet, conſiſting of 26 Sail, reckoning Men of War, Frigates, Fireſhips and Bomb Galleys, has been ſeen betwixt Revel and Hochland, and that they ſtopp'd all Ships that came in their Way, but let them go again, after taking out their Proviſions and paying for the ſame in ready Money. 'Tis added, that the Ruſſians have already 70 Galleys in the Port of Cronſtadt ready to ſail.

And from Stockholm, that ſeveral Galleys and other Ships, to the Number of 40, are ſail'd one after another with ſeveral Regiments on board, but whither they are deſign'd is not known. They add, that 3000 Men more are arriv'd at Stockholm who are likewiſe to be put on board ſeveral Galleys, and that they talk of equipping many more Men of War and other Ships.

The unaccountable Retreat of the Pruſſian Army towards Breſlau ſo ſuddenly was little expected, much leſs that it would have gone away in ſuch Haſte as to leave ſeveral Pontons with Baggage and Waggons laden with Ammunition in their old Camp near Fridewald. It ſeems that the Auſtrian Huſſars and the Hungarian Volunteers harraſs'd them alſo continually in their Retreat, and purſu'd them even to Grotkau, which the Pruſſians abandon'd the Day following, with ſome of their Effects, to the Queen's Huſſars, who then took Poſſeſſion of it. Some Advices ſay that the King of Pruſſia is much indiſpoſed in Sileſia.

They write from Hanover, that the Princeſs of Orange is ſhortly expected at Herrenhauſen, as are alſo Prince Frederic of Heſſe, the Princeſs his Conſort, and the Princeſs his Siſter.

Laſt Friday Se'nnight there was a very great Tempeſt at Elmham, Norfolk, by which one of the largeſt Timber Trees in the Park was ſplit and torn in pieces, in a ſurprizing Manner, ſome of the Arms or large Boughs being torn off, and thrown near fifty Yards; two Bucks were found dead, one was ſuppoſed to be kill'd by a Piece of Timber, the other by Lightning; and there have been a great many People from all Parts to ſee the ſurprizing Sight.

Tueſday laſt died after a ſhort Illneſs, at his Seat at Caulk near Derby, Sir John Harpur, Bart. who had the Character of a kind Landlord to his Tenants, and a good Benefactor to the Poor.

The Counteſs of Orrery, the Widow of the late Baron Wainwright, and ſeveral other Perſons of Diſtinction, are arrived from Ireland.

The King has ſign'd a Letter at Hanover, to create the Rev. Dr. Anthony Dopping, who is Dean of Clonmachoiſe in Ireland, to be Biſhop of Oſſory in that Kingdom, in the room of the Right Rev. Dr. Eaſte, lately promoted to the See of Waterford.

We hear that Major Sampſon is made a Lieutenant-Colonel

Regiment of Col. Johnſon's Regiment of Foot, in the room of the late Lord Primroſe, and Capt. Eccleſton of the ſame Regiment ſucceeds him as Major.

The Lord Viſcount Mayo, a Peer of Ireland, lies at the Point of Death.

His Majeſty's Ships the Kent, Capt. Mitchell, the Grafton, Capt. Ryceult, and the Eltham, Capt. Smith, with the Storeſhips and Merchantmen from Spithead for Jamaica, arrived at Antigua the Firſt of May, and would ſail in a few Days with the Men of War and Proviſionſhips from Cork.

Yeſterday the Eaſt-India Company received Advice, that the Colcheſter, Micklefield, and the Wilmington, Capt Tedd, late Maddox, from Coaſt and Bay, were arrived off of Beachy. They left the Cape of Good Hope the 5th of March laſt.

The William and Betty, Powell, of and from Liverpool, was ſpoke with near the Capes of Virginia, all well; alſo another Ship from the ſame Place.

The Nonpareil, Blackman, from London for Gibraltar, was taken by the Spaniſh Fleet, and carried into Ferrol.

The Catherine, Bryan, from Cork for Liſbon, was taken by a Spaniſh Privateer, and carried into Peniche in Portugal.

The Mary, Withie, from Newfoundland, was taken by a Spaniſh Privateer, and carried into Liſbon.

The Bank having delivered out Tickets for the preſent Lottery, we hear that Attendance is given daily at the ſeveral Offices near the Royal Exchange, who not only buy and ſell the ſaid Tickets but divide them into Shares as uſual.
